

Phood and phoolishness

Have a dinner. Have the a waiter for each table. Have the choices written in a different language. Each dinner chooses a x items and receives them in that order. They do not know what they are ordering.

Examples of items:

Silverware

Soup

Salad

Beverage

Entree

Dessert

The items come to each diner in the order they were ordered so every one at the table is getting different things for each "course".

This have been done several times by Viroqua Chapter and they could give advise.
